SESSION ENDS Enrollment Over 2400 Barbershop Quartet Show Proved Fun

With the close of the six week summer school session this Friday, the total attendance count for this year's session stands at 2,475, which figure includes elementary, secondary, and adult enrollment, according to Walter Rehvoit, director of instruction.

The program proved highly successful and satisfactory, Rehvoit stated, drawing educational personnel from the state for observational purposes.

The largest enrollment was on the elementary level. As compared to last year's 1,125 figure, this year's was up to 1,575.

This year was also the first year to have offered high school classes. Rehvoit attributed part of the summer session's success to the fact that the program was not just run on a "make-up" basis but also offered courses for which students did not have enough time during their regular school year.

Legion Installs Arnold-Evans
 At an impressive ceremony held at the Bert S. Crossland Post No. 170 of the American Legion, newly elected Legion and Legion Auxiliary officers were installed last Friday night, July 24. Incoming officers were as follows:

AMERICAN LEGION
 Gordon F. Arnold, commander; Robert G. Ernst, first vice commander; Clark V. Morris, second vice commander; Harry T. Green, junior past commander; Holly B. Kidner, adjutant; Roland F. Grover, finance officer; C. J. Ryan, chaplain; Vernon Coil, serving officer; C. E. Youngken, historian; H. C. Bender, sergeant-at-arms; William Dymond, assistant sergeant-at-arms.

AUXILIARY
 Emma Evans, president; Mary Babcock, first vice president; Tania Grobrosky, second vice president; Dorothy Ross, junior past president; Victoria Staker, secretary; Persia Fess, treasurer; Mae Howe, chaplain; Corlita Reeve, historian; Dorothy Parks, sergeant-at-arms; Mabel Williams, marshal.

The American Legion executive committee consists of the following: William Kalbfleisch, Robert Lewellen, Jr., and Ben Youngken. The Auxiliary executive committee is composed of: Merle Youngken, Lucille Thompson and Ella Robinson.

Maywood Post No. 223 and Maywood Unit No. 223 were the installing teams, respectively. Mrs. Beatrice Trumbull, past president of the Department of California, installed the women's Auxiliary group.

Mrs. Emma Evans now enters her third term as Auxiliary president. It was reported. Accordion music was provided by Mrs. J. Colomba.

Barbershop Quartet Show Proved Fun

All returns are not in yet but it is figured that a $400 net profit was reaped from Saturday night's Barbershop Song Fest at the civic auditorium, held for the benefit of a Little League club house.

"It was a good show and the people ate it up," said Doug McClay, general chairman. "The kids, of course, went wild over Bill Moisan, Angels' pitching star."

Ball Player with Heart
 Moisan demonstrated his great understanding of kids at one point in a quiz program which he was emceeing when one too many finalists had been chosen from the kids. The extra finalist, Tommy Coleman, was asked to sit down again.

When the whole quiz contest was over, Moisan, who admired the way Tommy had taken his disappointment like a man, announced that he would get Tommy a special baseball signed by himself and all the Angel stars.

Prize Winners
 Kenny Simpson won the original jack-pot prize which was a baseball signed by Moisan plus a dollar bill. All 12 finalists were given one dollar apiece.

A baseball which was donated by Mike Kaseno and which was autographed by the whole 1951 N. Y. Yankee team, including Joe Di Maggio, brought $15 in a "Dutch auction," with Carl Larsen winning the prize. Howard Coursey was the auctioneer.

Surprise Ending
 The evening had a surprise ending—there was free coffee, cookies, and orange juice for the audience. The products were donated by Nescafe, National Biscuit Co., and Jim Dandy Market, respectively.

Every one of the barbershopper groups was outstanding, said Doug McClay, who belongs to the Torrance Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing—the group which sponsored this event.

Barbershoppers
 Heard Saturday night were: Beachcombers and Verdugo Dons ("took top honors") from the Burbank chapter; Sound Waves ("went over plenty big"), a girl quartet from Los Angeles; No-Name Quartet ("could name them anything you wanted to"); and the combined forces of the Long Beach-Huntington Park and Torrance Chapters.

Homer Aspy was the master of ceremonies. He is the choral director of the Long Beach Chapter.

Puts Patience To Test—Ends in Court
 Marvin Heller of 309 Via Paqual discovered that people's patience and tolerance will make them take a lot of things but for only a limited period of time, especially if the annoyances involves such matters as preventing cars from parking in front of his home upon some personal whim; using profanity towards the neighborhood children and being offended when he is told by the parents to stop such practices; suddenly shining a flashlight at an oncoming car.
